

Hi, these flea markets are waiting for you this long Pentecost weekend!

the Vintage Market Guide

Hi there,

May really is one of the loveliest months for thrifting and antiques. Across Switzerland, flea markets, brocantes and antique fairs are popping up everywhere, and this coming long, sunny and apparently properly warm Pentecost weekend brings a particularly rich choice across the country!

Markets appear in towns, villages and old-town centres, often right where a short stroll is a pleasure anyway. A lovely weekend to head out, wander the stalls and see what turns up!

And if you'd like to make the most of the extra day off on Pentecost Monday, there are two wonderful options: either the annual "Foire à la Brocante" in Porrentruy in the canton of Jura, or the three-day "Antiquités & Brocante" in Montreux!

One quick look behind the scenes: we're right in the middle of building the website for The Vintage Market Guide. It's where flea markets, brocantes, antique fairs and vintage events from all over Switzerland will be gathered and made easy to find.

Soon you'll be able to search by region, date and interest. Whether you're after antiques, hunting for mid-century design, love digging through book crates, or simply want to know what's happening near you next weekend - the guide is built to help with exactly that.

For now we're still collecting, sorting, checking and building. But it's coming together, and we're really looking forward to launching in the next few weeks!

Until next week,
Your Vintage Market Guide Team
