

Hot days, early flea markets and cool afternoons 🌞🌞🌞

the Vintage Market Guide

Hi there,

Shop early, find your treasures, and spend the hottest part of the afternoon by the water... that is our plan for this weekend! 🌞🌞🌞

The heat is here to stay, and many parts of Switzerland are again expecting temperatures well above 30 degrees. That does not mean giving up on the treasure hunt, it just means starting early and choosing the day's route wisely! 😎

We felt the heat ourselves at last weekend's markets. At the Letzliplunder in Basel and the Puce Brocante in Bremgarten bei Bern, the rising temperatures gave the mornings a different rhythm. Visitors took their time, shaded corners became especially precious, and the vendors found creative ways to cool off while keeping their stalls welcoming. There were still plenty of treasures and lovely encounters, as always.

So this week we are featuring markets that pair especially well with a summer day by the water. Arrive early, browse while the air is still relatively fresh, and then move on to a nearby lake, a river or the lido once the midday heat sets in. 🌊

Among this weekend's markets by the water are the Brocante des Quais de Grandson right on Lake Neuchâtel, the Flohmarkt Bürkliplatz in Zürich, which starts as early as 7 a.m. on Saturday by Lake Zürich, and on Sunday the Zentralmarkt at the Dampfzentrale, right on the Aare in Bern, or the flea market in Thun. The other markets that pair nicely with a cool-down by the water are marked below with a 🌊.

Shop early, find your treasures, and spend the hottest part of the afternoon by the water... that is how it becomes the perfect Swiss summer weekend! 🌞

TVMG - Market Diaries

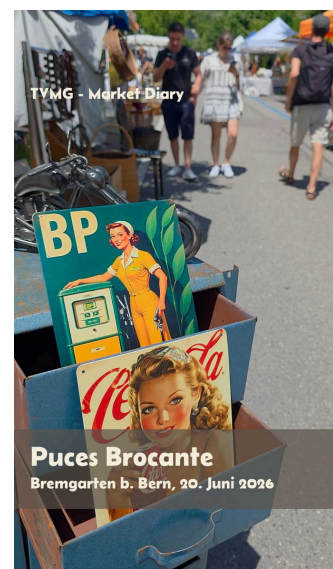

Letziplunder, Basel: Sometimes it is not only the flea market that is the discovery, but also the place where it happens. On Saturday morning we wanted to be there early because of the heat, but first we were surprised by the St. Alban valley, with its old houses, cobblestones and the St. Alban brook running right through it.

Puce Brocante, Bremgarten bei Bern: A hot summer day, more than 80 carefully arranged stalls and the Aare right next door. The village is almost entirely wrapped in a wide loop of the river, and once a year part of it turns into an antiques market for a whole weekend.

A few weeks ago we asked you to help name our virtual scout on WhatsApp, and you chose Mira. She is a virtual concierge who helps you find flea markets and brocantes near you, right inside WhatsApp, with no app to download and no sign-up.

We have spent the last few weeks building her behind the scenes, and we are nearly there. We are planning to launch the first version next week.

Before she goes fully live, we would love a few more curious testers to try her first and tell us honestly what works and what still needs improving. If you would like to be one of them, just reply to this email and we will send you the details.

Until next week,
